Silver Convention next Tuesday.

The Inter-State Fair at Tacoma opened with great enthusiasm on Wednesday.

Pamlico one of the greatest race stallions on the Grand Circuit, died at Charter Oak Park Wednesday.

The Kennedy New Era says that fights in Kennedy act like a tonic—give tone to the town and color to the face.

Wild ducks and geese are beginning to swarm on the Carson Sink and there will be great hunting there this fall.

Call around to the Capitol Restaurant and get one of Mr. Bassett's well-cooked meals. He keeps the best the market affords.

The ton of ore, or rather the eighteen hundred pounds, worked at the Taylor mill from Sunrise District, yielded a little over $40.

The Raisin Growers and Packers' Association of Fresno has commenced war on the packers who refuse to join the association.

H. B. Crouch, a prominent rancher and cattle-raiser of Arizona, Tuesday shot and killed Abundio Leon at Phoenix in a dispute over land.

Since the slap in the face the Reno Convention gave John P. Jones, there hasn't been much talk about Jones training with the G. O. P. any more.

James Hickey of Empire while returning from the encampment Wednesday night, fell on the V. & T. track and severely bruised his face. Dr. Guinan had to put some stitches in the cut in his chin.

James A. Yerington, Nevada's commissioner to the Midwinter Fair, returned Wednesday from the Bay. Mr. Yerington succeeded in disposing of Nevada's building and settling up the bills against the State, and left everything in good shape.

There was a windstorm at Auburn Tuesday afternoon, followed by lightning, thunder and rain. During the storm John Isola, who was riding with his wife on the Grass Valley road, was killed by a falling tree. One horse was also killed. The wife was hurt, but not seriously.

Big forest fires in the Olympic mountains and on Vancouver island have been burning for several days, and the straits and lower sound are all enveloped in a thick cloud of smoke, which wholly obscures the sun and endangers navigation. The atmosphere is full of cinders.

An Indiana farmer has sued Congressman Bynum for breach of promise, basing his suit upon the fact that the Congressman promised the voters of his district that wheat should be $1 25 per bushel if the people would only elect the Democrats. The farmer now wants the difference between 42 cents per bushel and $1 25. This suit will be watched with great interest for if won the Democratic party will be forced into bankruptcy.

There is a large deposit of silica in this county in the vicinity of Clinton. Recently some San Francisco parties were here to look at the deposit and to see if it could be used for covering steam pipes etc. It was decided to be the right kind of composition, and a carload of the material is being taken out for shipment to San Francisco. There is a mountain of the stuff, and it ranges in value from $15 to $25 a ton, according to its purity.—Lyon County Times.

To Keep Flies Off Animals.

Can you recommend something to keep flies off from horses and cows.—Dairyman.

A writer in an agricultural paper says on the subject: I have tried nearly every conceivable thing to prevent flies annoying horses; nothing was so easily applied, so cheap, and effective as common kerosene. No mixture. It is to be applied twice a day.

Now for the cows. Take common axle grease, thin with coal oil and tincture with carbolic acid. It will do the business.

A New Firm.

Herb McClaskey and Ernest Mayo, both Carson raised boys, have opened up a store in the old Wells Fargo building. They are carrying a new and full line of notions, cards, fruit, etc. They make a specialty of fine cigars, and the "Supremo" 5-cent cigars they are offering are ahead of most of the articles to be found in the city. See their advertisement in another column.

THE FOURTH DAY.

First of the new Krog-Jorgenson Gun.

Yesterday morning the boys under command of Colonel Lord formed a line of battle and charged an imaginary foe entrenched somewhere in the sagebrush north of Camp. They advanced in double column, firing at the enemy with rifles, gattling guns, and field pieces. The artillery supported the infantry, and the rapid evolutions of the troops flanked by smoking batteries and prancing horses made a very exciting scene and delighted the spectators.

Even the old ranch horses hired for the occasion became restless and frieky and some came near going into the battle on the dead run.

The most interesting event of the day to the sharp shooters was the test of the new Krog-Jorgenson rifle, a new arm adopted by the Government. One hundred shots were fired at the 200 yard target by five men and the score was 208. Chaterlain and Cameron each scored 44. The new rifle gives great satisfaction to the soldiers. The gun is a trifle heavier than the old arm. It shoots a smaller bullet and is steel cased. The gun has a very slight recoil, the trigger has a long pull with a spring but "when it goes it goes for keeps," and has no creep. The penetration is very great. Saffell shot a bullet lengthwise through a pine stick, it went clear through 30 inches. How much better it will do remains to be demonstrated.

In the afternoon there was a drill under command of Lieutenant Faison, in which some new movements were introduced. To day the encampment will wind up with a grand review before the Governor and Staff. Dress parade, sham battle, target shooting and a grand blaze of military glory.

BLANK CARTRIDGES.

The guard house was well filled with Keeley students Thursday morning.

"Burnside," the countersign, was all over town by midnight, Wednesday.

A small boy started to gather up "dead soldiers" Thursday. He had to send for a dray.

The Gatling gun made a hit yesterday—several of them in fact. The bullseye was completely cut out of the target.

Al Hofer tried to pass the picket line Thursday morning. He was escorted to the guard house, and a bottle of countersign confiscated.

While the volley firing was going on yesterday Farmer Treadway drove his cattle half a mile to the left.

While making a sharp turn yesterday morning the ammunition wagon of one of the cannons was overturned, but nobody was hurt.

O. H. Gray got around with cigars yesterday.

Private Lammon headed the "strike" squad last night and cheered all the prominent visitors.

The Battery and Emmetts were photographed last evening. Each company was taken separate to prevent bloodshed.

Adjutant Haas was not put in the guard house night before last, as stated in the Tribune.

An eye doctor was cheered for the Governor last evening.

Colonel Wm. Clarke drilled Company F last night to the great satisfaction of the spectators.

He Hailed From

On Monday evening about 11:36, a man was found seated on the sidewalk in front of Cohn's begging the passers by to help him off with his rubbers. He said he had worked half an hour and the rubber overshoes he had been wearing in dress parade were too tight to come off. He said he would give any man a dollar who would remove them. A boy who tried to earn the money made the discovery that the man wore no overshoes, but was in a highly inebriated condition and anxious to get back to camp. It was finally decided to give him a shower bath, in order to get him in shape to meet the guard. They leased Muller's barber shop for the occasion and gave him a cold shower bath.

When the water hit him he remarked.

"Heavy shower boys; I told 'em it would rain."

"It'll help the crops Bill."

"D— the crops," was the reply, "let's get under a shed."

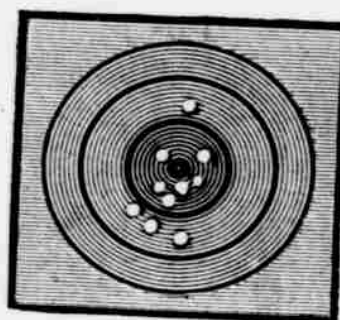

He hailed from—

TARGETS FROM TWO STATES.

A Couple by Lieutenants Faison and Saxton.

We are able to present to day two targets by Lieutenants Faison and Saxton.

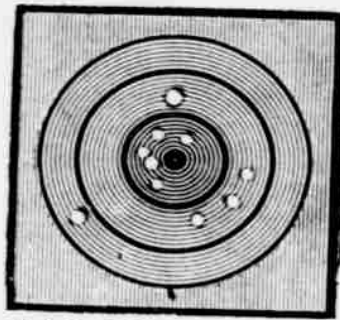

The following is a 500 yard target, made at Shell Mound by Lieutenant Faison of the U. S. A., who was sent up here by the Navy Department to drill the troops. He acts as Commander of the Day.

4 5 4 4 5 4 5 5 5 5 4 6

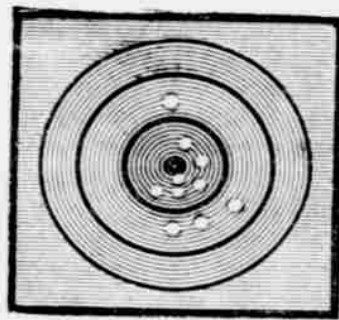

As the boys say, this is a target what is a target, and is good enough shooting for any section of the country.

The following is one by Lieutenant Saxton, Nevada's West Point Cadet.

3 5 5 4 4 4 4 5 5 5 5 4 4

George Thaxter who was so long considered the crack shot of Nevada could always be depended on for a good target. Here is one made in the Interstate match in 1883 at a 500 yard target.

4 5 4 5 5 5 5 4 4 5 4 6

It is not only the same score as Faison's, but the arrangement of the shots are much the same.

Here is a target by Johnathan Saffell at 200 yards.

4 4 4 5 4 5 4 4 4 5 4 3

The Navy Department has decided to construct another casemate for the dry dock at Mare island, so that the dock may be available at all times.
